

Hi <Name>

I thought this might be of interest to you. My Marine mom friend, Amy Cotta, has created ValorBands wrist cuffs and bracelets, made from donated, authentic soldiers' uniforms as a fashionable way to wear your gratitude for our troops and show your patriotism. Amy is currently crowdfunding her business to help scale it, which includes job training and employment for at-risk and transitioning veterans.

You can check it out here: <https://ifundwomen.com/projects/valorbands>

Each ValorBand is handcrafted by Amy in Nashville TN and honors the history of a military service member, but with our help, she can employ veterans to make them as well.

20% of all proceeds from ValorBands benefits Medals of Honor and other worthy outreaches that offer support to military service members, veterans, and their families.

Please consider supporting and sharing Amy's vision of honoring our service members through wearable gratitude. <https://ifundwomen.com/projects/valorbands>

To learn more about the cause that unites us all, go to www.ValorBands.com and www.MedalsofHonor.org.

Yours sincerely,

<Name>